Muslims pray for peace on Eid'l Adha

By Nish B. Maslana
Bureau Manila

MILLIONS of Muslims converged early yesterday for the Eid'l Adha (The Feast of Sacrifice) prayer in open fields in various Muslim communities across the globe called for world peace.

President Aquino has declared today an official nationwide holiday in recognition of the occasion's significance to world peace. It also coincides with the opening of the 2011 hajj pilgrimage to Mecca. (See story on Page A8.)

Hijabed Muslims trooped to morning congregational prayers at designated open spaces in key Muslim cities, as well as in Metro Manila's three major Muslim communities in Quiapo, Marikina, Taguig City and San Juan City Avenue in Quezon City.

In Quezon City, Mayor Isagani Duran Jr. opened the grounds of the People's Palace (City Hall).

'Hot pursuit'—Army calls the shots

By Arando Dorado

THE ARMY CHIEF Lt. Gen. Arando Dorado, unofficially declared on Thursday that the "series of temporary war" (ATSI) for the Moro Islamic Liberation Front (MILF) no longer exists.

This was about the MILF's refusal to hand over its deputy commander in Basilan, Dan Lokoren Anwar, who has been wanted by the government for the 2007 kidnapping of 14 Marine soldiers and the killing of 19 Army Special Forces troops on Oct. 18. Both incidents occurred in Al-Bukid, Basilan.

As a consequence of this defiance by the MILF, Gen. Dorado warned that the Army would not stop "hot pursuit" operations against criminals and bandits" seeking sanctuary in the ATSI, a mechanism established by the peace process to deal with ceasefire violations and with bandits.

Under the Army's doctrine, it would continue her pursuit operations against those responsible for the Oct. 18 killings even if these militants were inside the ATSI, otherwise called "SALU" (NOT PARAG 14)

Traffic enforcers to be renamed 'constables'

By Mike Morcillo

WHAT'S in a name? It could smell just as sweet, or as foul. In a few weeks, traffic enforcers at the Metropolitan Manila Development Authority (MMDA) will henceforth be called "constables," a term used in British and British-influenced police forces.

MMDA Chief Francisco Tolentino said the renaming was intended not simply to give a nice British sheen to his blue-uniformed men, but also to enhance professionalism.

"We want our personnel to be easily identified and to get more respect," Tolentino said over the phone. "We also want the title to be easily understood by the public and to be a source of pride for our constables."

Traffic enforcers will be selected according to their qualifications, which include physical fitness, he said.

Tolentino did not elaborate further, but said he wanted his men to be up-to-date—in a class all their own, distinguished from local government people doing the same traffic monitoring and enforcement. (PHOTO BY JAMES A. POGGIO)

Inclusion on Interpol 'red notice list' seen

By Marlon Ranesa
and Jerry E. Diolano

THE DEPARTMENT of Justice (DOJ) is considering placing Ma. Ramona "Mara" Bautista, a principal suspect in the Oct. 28 murder of her brother, Ramon Bautista, on the "red notice list" of the International Police (Interpol) to prevent her movement abroad.

Justice Secretary Leila de Lima disclosed this possibility as she ordered the National Bureau of Investigation (NBI) to immediately call the Interpol in an effort to bring Ramona back to the country.

"I asked the NBI to double-check the rules on the Interpol and notice list... if it's possible to put someone on that list without yet an arrest warrant being issued, please bring her back," De Lima said in a text message to the bureau.

The secretary issued the directive after the media reported that Ramona, 23, flew to Istanbul, Turkey, via Hong Kong on Friday night. Ramona got married to a Turkish national three years ago, according to her half-brother, Sen. Renato "Bong" Revilla Jr. (See related story on Page A10.)

Suspects' ma blasts senator for 'meddling' and Rapun San Diego Jr.

"STAY OUT of my family's affairs," Genito Magpayay said yesterday, referring to Sen. Ramon "Bong" Revilla Jr., whom she criticized for meddling with her family after the murder of her son.

Reacting from a statement, Magpayay slammed the politician's alleged involvement in the killing of her son, Ramon Revilla Sr., and the crime being placed on her two younger children.

"What happened to us was very painful. My son died in a violent way, while my other children are being tagged as accomplices of this heinous crime," Magpayay said in Tagalog. "I only ask for one thing: I want justice." (PHOTO BY JAMES A. POGGIO)

Tight monitoring of LPG-fed taxis pushed

By Christine O. Avendade
and Amy R. Bano

THE GOVERNMENT needs to tighten its monitoring of the way taxis are fitted with liquefied petroleum gas (LPG) kits to prevent health hazards to cab drivers and their passengers.

Deputy presidential spokesperson Nigalito Vela said the Aquino administration was pushing for the use of alternative energy sources to lessen dependence on petroleum products.

But she said that vigilance and compliance with standards were required to avoid health risks posed by LPG-powered cabs, outlined in an upcoming special report—"Toxic Taxis."

"We should make sure there will be no adverse effects on drivers and their passengers," Vela said.

The problem is several agencies are involved in the operation of LPG-driven vehicles and the Department of Energy (DOE) claims it has no jurisdiction on this.

Zemaida Y. Moncada, director of the DOE's Oil Industry Management Bureau, explained that the energy department's

MX3[®]: A TOTAL RELIEF

"A light scratch or simple touch on any part of my skin drives me crazy! I'm constantly scratching all over my skin, leaving it with wound scars and marks. Aside from this, I also have an incessant blood-tinged, leechy stool as well."

At 44, I already tried food supplements, including synthetic ones but none came to my rescue. Having viewed a TV ad about MDJ, I started taking the capsule after making sure that it was an all-natural herbal food supplement.

While taking MOX, my improved stamina and immune system was tested during the devastating flash flood which hit southern part of Darvo City. I was up for two days straight in taking care of my family after that heavy rain downpour and land fluidization, which brought in contaminated waters at least a height of six feet.

With MCK, the effect was overwhelming! I have no more blood allergies that make me scratch my skin all over my body. I can now concentrate more on my repair shop business, and yet continue to enjoy my regular golf games every weekend.

I consider myself lucky after that event because I never got sick or worse hospitalized. Regular intake of MXX Canada, Coffee and Tea has brought me a total relief indeed!"

Big 3 oil companies out to damage our reputation, charge LPG dealers

By Ed Cukierman

A LOBBYMAN yesterday accused the Big Three oil companies of being behind a "boycott stall" filed by the Department of Justice (DOJ) against him and his party-line group for allegedly forcing working gas dealers to lower their prices.

In a statement, Rep. Scott Ty of the Legislative Petroleum Gas Subsector Association (LPGMSA) said that the Protection of Philippine Industries (PPI), which filed a complaint with the DOE regarding MGC and its group of affiliated operations in the LPG market, was "backed" by Philippine Shell Petroleum Corp., Forest Corp. and other Philippine Inc.

By claiming the Big Three were not in "damage the reputation of independent retailers not aligned with them."

The DOE on Friday recommended that changes be filed against Ty and LGS&E's Northwest Double Ours, Alaska by Burt Russell, Barbara Greville, Max Tabor, Tony Virginia III, Rosendo Otero and members of Rosendo's "price spreading" or distorting network in gross of 1.8% products in violation of the antitrust provisions of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. § 1).

TV claimed that whenever Ty announced a price rollback in the media, all 120,000 members cancelled without notice.

Oil prices follow downward trend

IDEAL oil companies studied the prices of their petroleum products starting on the day to reflect significant movements in the global oil market.

British Gas, Shell Philippines, Mitsui Shell Petroleum Corp., Chevron Philippines, Phoenix Petroleum and Total Philippines have used the price-discount gasoline by P150 a liter, of regular gasoline by 70 cent above a liter, and of kerosene by 50 cent above a liter.

Dead prices were also cut by 10 to 20 percent a lot.

Mountainville, Eastern Petrol—An independent price rollback of $1.40 a liter for premium gasoline, 78 cents a liter for regular gasoline, and 25 cents a liter for diesel. Effective Monday.

The price meltdown, according to Farnon, was partially aided by the slight appreciation of the euro against the dollar. — David H. Green

It's chief of staff, Miguel Simon Jr., said the suit was meant to divert the public's attention from the pressing public clamor for the big oil companies to disclose their financial records in response to allegations of swindling oil rigmasters.

"We didn't have a copy yet of the president's supposed recommendation. If it has been in case, then we intend to appeal it with the secretary of justice," said Jency, who noted that the DTR had singled out the LPRM in its campaign.

LPO/MA is made up of independent LPO entities that will derive profits for P400 via the standard 11-tubogram cylinder that the big-oil companies, Exxon said.

"The [Department of Energy] has repeatedly urged the Big Three to use the international contract prices of OTC as a benchmark, but the guests have refused to comply," Davis said.

Atmospheric, Geophysical and Astronomical Services Administration (Pagsanjan), sent out the advisory as water levels in the river and its tributaries rose, following rains since Friday, said Hilson Hernandez, PFRF chief.

The last time the Pampanga River was flooded was when typhoons "Pablo" and "Dante" hit, around the region more than a month ago, flooding at least 1,600 villages for almost two weeks and killing 49 people.

The Pampanga River, the main drain of Central Luzon, takes in water from 30 river systems fed by watersheds from the Sierra Madre mountain ranges and in Tarlac, Nueva Ecija, Pampanga and Bulacan.

Disasters and widespread rains over Central Luzon were expected due to a shallow low pressure area estimated at 50 kilometers east southeast of Manila, Quezon, and southeast along the International convergence zone affecting the country.

April 11 a.m. Sunday, November 6, water levels had yet to reach alarming levels 15 monitoring stations across in Cavite, Pampanga, where it was recorded at 4.2 meters. The alert level in this area is 5 m.

Buildings in the basin were closed at 2.10 meters at 6 a.m. Sunday.

The situation expected to worsen because water levels were the lowest Pampanga River, San Carlos, Cagayan de Oro, and the rivers of Pinar del Rio, Pinar del Rio and Pinar del Rio.

A proposal by the Regional Development Council (RDC) to build flood forecasting and warning systems in each of the seven Central Luzon provinces has yet to take off the ground, a check by the agency showed.

City of San Francisco Mayor Oscar Rodriguez, RUC chief, said the concept was for local governments to partner with Pagsanjan in operating and maintaining the stations to alert and other information are immediately relayed to communities.

As of October, national government agencies and local governments had spent P128 million to aid in studies of recent floods that were considered the worst that Central Luzon has seen.

The disaster left 1,300 families homeless and destroyed 31.4 million of crops, worth P100 million.

In Isabela, residents of at least 300 housing villages in the province have started preparing their belongings in case they are ordered to evacuate while the Mayor Juan continues to advise towns.

The province has been experiencing heavy rains since Friday prompting dam administrators in Kapanaganan to release water through three spill gates.

In Marikina, Marikina River water level was recorded at 250.50 meters above sea level (MSL), almost reaching its 300 m critical level.

He said heavy rains have been recorded along the dam's watershed areas in the villages of Marikina, Marikina, Marikina and Marikina.

The dam has been generating 250 megawatts of power for the 1,000 grid and providing irrigation water to at least 10,000 hectares of farmlands in Isabela, Marikina and parts of Marikina and Marikina.

Bulacan gov't suspends retrieval of logs due to smuggling attempt

CITY OF MANILA—The Bulacan government has suspended the retrieval of logs and trees felled by recent typhoons in the Angat Dam watershed after local officials discovered irregularities in the handling.

The trees would have been used to reconstruct the debris to be discarded in schools in the province.

Wendell Garcia, head of the Angat Watershed Area Management Team, said he stopped the operation of the contractor, Supercenter Building and Landscaping Inc. (SLI), more than two weeks ago after he perceived irregularities in a shipment of lumber to Marikina.

Milling works

Garcia said Eduardo Canales, SLI manager, and his team had 3,716.50 board feet of lumber under milling works as they tried to come a security checkpoint.

"The contractor tried to steal from the province, the government and the school board, who who could have used the lumber for reconstruction (of schools) the SLI was hired to build," Garcia said.

Charges against the SLI were reported to the provincial law enforcement, he said.

Regional Council, deputy, provincial manager for watershed management of the National River Corp., said it would be up to the Bulacan government to decide if the SLI would be allowed to continue its contract.

In April, SLI signed a memorandum of agreement with Gen. Wilfredo Jr. to provide for the duration of all logs and fallen trees recovered from the Angat watershed in the provincial government so that would be used to build school furniture.

Canales said the contract with the SLI provided for 90 percent of logs it is able to recover from the province, while 10 percent would be used to build classroom chairs, tables and even classrooms.

Lack of chairs

He said they needed up to 1,000 classroom chairs and 50 school desks to reconstruct the school. He said some high school students and up to 100 students are in lack of chairs. Canales said he would need help to build more classrooms, chairs and tables for 10,000 students.

Gov't pushes private sector entry for Albay power firm

By Mar S. Aquilino
Nagasaki Business Editor

LEGASPI CITY—It now appeared to be all over for Andale's electric cooperation after the government agency said it could no longer fund the selling, Almay Electric Cooperative (Alec) that provided electricity to some 250,000 consumers in the province.

Edgardo Pimentel, National Electrification Administration (NEA) deputy administrator, said the best option to revive Alec is to let it be privatized.

All the Alec stakeholders' forum on Thursday, Pimentel said the government could no longer save the cooperative where it has no more funds to assist financially in electric cooperatives.

He proposed the involvement of the private sector in its operation to improve service reliability.

The private sector participants would also improve Alec's financial standing, and assist in meeting its obligations with the Philippine Electricity Market Corp. and other private power suppliers, said Pimentel.

These Ministry Energy Undersecretary and Albay Representative Edil Lagunas and Fernando Comandor favored the sale of the private sector.

They said they welcomed the news provided it followed certain parameters which included the inclusion of all stakeholders in the process, providing affordable power rates to the customers and protecting labor rights.

Comandor said the government has relinquished all cooperative ownership to save Alec but it continued to risk.

Albay Rep. Al Francis Infante said he wanted to look into other options, such as the government assuming all the liabilities of Alec.

Albay Bishop Adel Dulay of the Diocese of Legaspi and Almay, vice chairman chair said they have found new energy ways to stop the financial bleeding of Alec but it needed further help to revive the cooperative.

Alec leaders said some independent power producers are interested in acquiring Alec, including the Abnco Group, the Independent Energy Development Corp. and business owner Henry P. Pangilinan.

Lower Legaspi town Mayor, Alonzo Infante, admitted the cooperative could no longer remain in operation because of the very high operating losses it incurred.

"The electric cooperative is operating monthly on a deficit as a result of the operations," he stressed. Alec's current system loss is at 22 percent, way above the 10 percent allowable set by the Energy Regulatory Commission, he said.

Alec subsidiaries the system loss above cap which amounts to P54.14 million a month, she added.

Lagunas said the cooperative's collective efficiency has been so poor even after the sale, but it means enough to cover the monthly expenses as a result of the high system loss.

The high system loss is another of the anticipated, delicate power transmission, power meters in various substations and power lines, while the substations are not compliant with the Grid Code.

To solve the system loss problem, he said the cooperative would need huge funding to improve electrical distribution, system reliability and reduction of the system loss.

Alec has been placed under the management of NEA to run the 5,000-kilowatt plant but the cooperative is still operating at a loss and owed its power suppliers close to P3 billion in liabilities as of July this year.

Alec said the power sector is still in a state of transition. The power sector is still in a state of transition. The power sector is still in a state of transition. The power sector is still in a state of transition.

Candle-making brightens prison life

By Maricar Cruz

CARITE CITY—Unlike most people, inmates here don't go to work. They are in prison, looking at a narrow window, will most likely make something else.

"When you were with us, all you did was to come out and see our children. We always brought them. Even you asked for money to support your kids. But now, you no longer drink and eat meat, and money for the family. The Lord is with you. You are a good person. I will include in my prayers to God and the Father that you may be happy."

Fr. Dominador Medina, OFM, tells his parishioners this message, giving them a letter that Lopez may give her husband in prison as soon as he is released. The 75,000 has been released behind bars.

Lopez says the Catholic priest, a priest person who shared this message with him when she said that her remarkable husband of a husband was actually making money in jail.

After All Saints' Day the St. Peter's Parish in Carite City is sending money and the families of some 20 inmates their shares from the P60,000 that their loved ones earned from making candles.

The parish started the project as part of the spiritual work in September last year in about 20 of about 130 inmates of the Santa-Cruz Diocese Jail for the first time for the project.

Like Lopez's husband, most of the inmates are in prison for selling illegal drugs, Medina says.

"The inmates work helps to make their family something to get up with and at the same time, even something out of it. When we run out of materials, they were the ones who say that they are already so they could resume making the candles," he says.

Return of investment

Martin Hernandez, a student of Cordillera in Theological Studies, a Saturday program of the Divine Word Seminary in Tagaytay City and Medina's friend, volunteered to teach candle-making to the inmates.

With a start-up capital of P3,000 for the wax, wicks and the glass where the candle is placed, the return was "200 percent," says Hernandez. The parish provided the money from donations.

Hernandez says that the inmates were at first hesitant because they were worried about not being able to sell the products, several organizations that taught candle-making to them in the past had a hard time selling the candles, she says.

Medina himself brought the candles to the parish and sold them in churches after Mass. Candles placed in churches, yellow flames are sold for P55 each, while those in other, clear glasses sell for P110.

"Our message could mean to the church placed candles outside the church and sold the candles. They also volunteered to go home to homes to peddle the candles," she says.

Selling action

Medina also announced the parish project during Mass to encourage people to buy the products. "While we pray for his help, we also have to take action in doing," he says.

So far, over a thousand glasses of candles have been sold up to the end of the All Saints' Day. The earnings are to be divided among the 20 inmates and will be used in their families as what they were made to spend at the start of the project.

To inspire a steady market, Medina says the parish is cooperating with other relief agencies in the city. "They can also use the skill in doing a living once released from prison. It's very hard for an ex-inmate in Manila jobs," he says.

The parish is also creating a strong (smoked fish) business, a livelihood project for those released from prison. "It's afraid that if they could not find a job immediately, they might resort to selling drugs or smoking," Medina says.

In-form Barako Bull destroys Powerade

By Jim Navarro

BARAKO BULL crushed Powerade from start to finish in a franchise-record 117-79 win last night in the PBA Philippine Cup at the Smart Araneta Coliseum.

Jose Alas and Ramon Fernandez joined forces with two-time MVP Willie Miller to building a 16-point edge in the opening minutes that the Energy sustained throughout to earn the palm of a second straight death by the Alaska team.

"We got our points through defense," said Alas. "That was the topic we talked about coming into this game."

"Our shooting, on the other hand, was the result of the great game strategy," added Alas, who poured some of his 14 points into the Energy's opening act.

series tonight, even led by 32 points in one point in the fourth quarter by rookie Paul Syjuco.

It was the biggest winning margin in the franchise in the league, setting a 24-point victory over Barangay Ginebra in Game 2 of the PBA Philippine Cup in 2006, when the battle was still known as the Acelero Express.

"We always respect what other things are," said Barako Bull coach Joel Peralta. "We didn't expect a blowout, but I guess we did our homework well."

Ironclad out of the game was Gary Stouth, who struggled for his points on 1-of-9 shooting after shooting over a series last night in the "Tiger" 100-91 triumph over the Petron Blaze Boosters over a week ago.

That one-week rest put Powerade out of the playoffs and sent the Tigers into fourth place.

KC Concepcion tapped to sing at Opening

KC CONCEPCION-SEA Games attraction

BUENOS AIRES—Indonesian singer KC Concepcion will perform during the opening ceremony of the 26th Southeast Asian Games, which gets going on Friday with a glitzy Opening Ceremony at Gelora Bung Karno Stadium in Jakarta.

As work ground to a halt in this city of about 1.6 million residents, a stadium building work zone that Concepcion will perform in has been put on pause for her number singing of the Games opening.

Concepcion will sing "Together We Will Shine" with Indonesian actress Agnes Mones and Malaysian artist under Ms. Iswari Agustini, who will join Philippine Olympic Committee president Jose "Nepo" Concepcion Jr. in the Nov. 7 opening rites at the newly built oval and field stadium at the Gelora Bung Karno.

The two were dispatched by Jakarta.

Philippines, which is hosting 19 sports of the Southeast Asian, is experiencing difficulties meeting the needs of the athletes, according to PH officials.

"They are experiencing serious accommodation and transportation problems," said Francis Magat, the PH Olympic's emergency chief of mission. "The event was only for the working time but some transportation issues." "It's not good that our athletes have to be in total transportation for our team for 27 athletes remaining here. We are providing all our support from our own money in Jakarta."

But days before the opening, organizers have put to stake their arrangements on where to house thousands of athletes, officials and individual club supporters who will come to the Games.

Only one of three ships allowed to transport (mostly) Filipino athletes to Singapore for the closing ceremony of Games of Southeast Asia arrived in Palembang.

40-gold-haul realistic, says PH official

By Masung R. Castillo

MANILA—A haul of 250 gold medals will be contested in 34 sports scheduled in Jakarta of the 26th Southeast Asian Games, which gets going on Friday with a glitzy Opening Ceremony at Gelora Bung Karno Stadium in Jakarta.

Of the 25 sports, however, the Philippines can only be considered as a medal in a very limited number.

Julius Concepcion, secretary general of the Philippine Olympic Committee and the PH Olympic's emergency chief of mission, is expecting a gold medal haul of the order of 40.

"There's a lot of 20 to 30 medals," Concepcion said. "I think we can do anything to get a higher number of gold medals."

The bulk of the 112 among Philippine delegates will start arriving Monday at the airport to the Philippines in a mass air division in all of its competing four teams to make the weight-lift without hitch.

Medals in one of the medal heavy events have with a total of 27 gold to be taken in a 10-day competition.

Four-day games opening Nov. 18.

Only weekends until Nov. 22 gold medals up to 100 medals (including 100 in Nov. 18 at the Perti Sport Hall in Jakarta) have more championships in order to Jakarta. Jakarta, where the ceremony last Nov. 18, will be seeing athletes again for the Philippines, is making 10 gold medals and individual team sport. Results show will have 30 championships, tennis, 17 and judo, where the Indonesian athletes will compete for the silver, 10, Nov. 18.

Matteo Bono, who was Olympic Committee member in 2007 in Jakarta, has been in Thailand without the aid of a committee, is expected in the 12th Indonesian individual team, the 24 Nov. 17 and the team country.

Champion Lee Joon-ho, however, the opponent team will still have a total of 40 gold medals (including 10, Nov. 18 at the Perti Sport Hall in Jakarta).

Resulting Nov. 23 athletes entered in 12 events.

One of Concepcion's biggest concerns today is Jakarta, the biggest medal champion in the 26th Southeast Asian Games.

Concepcion said the opponent team will still have a total of 40 gold medals (including 10, Nov. 18 at the Perti Sport Hall in Jakarta).

"They got away with it," he said.

Banking system's deposit base up 8.4% in H1

By Michelle K. Nolas

Confidence in banks getting stronger

BANK deposits in the country surged to an all-time high of P5.3 trillion in the first half of the year, buoyed by rising income that allowed households and companies to save more.

The amount was 8.4 percent higher than the P4.9 trillion registered in the same period last year.

Regulators said the rising amount of money kept in banks indicated the confidence of the public in the banking system.

Philippine Deposit Insurance Corp.

(PDIC) said this could be attributed to the sector's sound financial condition and the timely payment of deposit insurance claims in case of bank closures.

Of the P5.3 trillion amount of deposits, foreign currency-denominated deposits played a substantial, unrecorded, 40 percent and rural banks in the country 40.7 percent or P3.5 trillion were placed in bank branches outside National Capital Region, PDIC said in a report.

The balance of 50.3 percent, or P3.7 trillion in deposits, was not outside the rest of the country.

Bank branches in the NCR held 42.7 percent of the total deposit accounts of 27.6 million, with the rest spread out in the provinces.

The Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas said the accumulation of bank deposits in the NCR was consistent with the fact that banks put up the most number of branches in urban areas. The BSP added that there were still quite a number of areas in the country where there were no banks. The accumulation of deposits in the NCR is also reflected by the fast pace of growth of money placed in bank branches located in the region.

BSP said the amount of bank deposits in the NCR rose up by 6.4 percent year-on-year, exceeding the average growth rate of bank deposits in the country.

Banking generally did not establish branches in areas where economic activity is weak, the BSP said. However, the central bank said bank branches were clearly what were needed in many remote areas in the country to help boost financial activities in those areas.

TVI to file case vs Zambo open pit mining ban

By Riza T. Ochoa

TVI Resource Development, Phil. Inc. (TVI), an affiliate of TVI Pacific Inc. of Canada, has formally advised the Mines and Geosciences Bureau (MGB) that it was preparing to challenge in court an order issued by the bureau open pit mining in Zamboanga del Norte.

TVI Chairman Leo L. Asencio said in a phone interview over the weekend that TVI is at odds and there legal counsel had informed MGB officials in a meeting on Friday that the mining company would file a petition for court injunction.

Last Tuesday, TVI itself said in a statement that the injunction, precisely the longstanding prohibition against open-pit mining, was "unconstitutional."

The injunction, which is supposed to take effect on Nov. 8, gave TVI 60 days to stop up the open-pit mine.

Also threatened is the plan of United Mining Corp., the country's biggest miner in terms of capitalization, to explore the possibility of mining the island province of Zamboanga del Norte.

The island copper-gold project, was scheduled in early 1999 due to low gold prices. Now that gold prices in the world market have been rising, the company is studying the viability of mining the project.

Open-pit mining is also known as open-pit and strip mining. The last on open-pit mining in the province is now directly affecting TVI, which operates the Zamboanga del Norte in Socorro municipality. TVI is also exploring the island property and has entered into a working agreement in Zamboanga del Norte.

Asencio said in a phone interview that the court of mining law would not only the individual companies and those that have been depending on their projects for livelihood but also the country's investment and economic development.

ANI, partner to start producing hybrid rice

HEILONGJIANG Philippines, a joint venture between Heilongjiang First Agriculture University Inc. (HNU) and Heilongjiang Seed Group of China, will produce hybrid rice in the Philippines to serve growing demand for food.

HNU and president Antonio Tito said in a statement that the Philippine Rice Research Institute (PhilRice) had approved the commercial production of Heilongjiang's hybrid rice variety developed by Heilongjiang.

Heilongjiang Philippines is initially producing about 20 to 25,000 metric tons per year with an investment of about $100 million.

The company aims to have a total of 10,000 hectares planted in several cycles by end-2012, Tito said.

The joint venture company established in late-2010, is focused on developing hybrid rice seed varieties, selling them to farmers and helping the farmers produce the rice all over the Philippines.

From the Department of Agriculture, rice that domestic policy demand was expected to reach 28.6 million tons to 30.7 million tons by the end of 2011, 28.6 million tons by 2012, and 23.1 million tons by 2013.

The government's policy target is aimed at 17.4 million tons in 2011, 19.2 million tons in 2012, and 23.1 million tons by 2013 as advance self-sufficiency to rice supply.

Hybrid rice propagation is one of the keys to achieving rice self-sufficiency because hybrid yield rates that the regular hybrid rice yields.

Rice breeding, as the science that brings new rice varieties to farmers, resulted in an average gain of 552 per hectare yearly for the 18 years between 1960 and 2009, according to an Australian study on the impact of rice research in the Philippines.

DOE chief backs collection of universal charges

By Amy A. Barnes

HEAVY Secretary Jean-Louis D. Aronson is pushing for the collection of the universal charges that will allow the government to pay $1.25 billion worth of stranded debt and interest costs.

Atkinson wanted the public there were ways to help mitigate the impact of the unusual changes on power consumers.

He admitted that the non-collection of universal charges for stranded assets (SAs) and stranded costs (SCs) might adversely affect the government as it would incur a "financial drag of about a few billion pesos" on state-owned Power Sector Assets and Liability Management Corp. (PSALM), the entity tasked to clear the debts of National Power Corp.

"The U.S. should push through, but there are ways to mitigate it. I cannot discuss what we're going to do right now. We have several options," he said.

"We should let the Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) decide on what is a fair natural-gas price, then we discuss alternatives on how to make those things work or how we can mitigate the impact," he added.

Montreal's contacts were in reaction to reports that certain businessmen were pushing for the establishment of FICM's position to collect FICA (million worth of uninsured charges). FICM had announced that it was open to any proposal for a scheme that it had put in study as potential financial institution.

The Department of Energy's own recommendations will, however, depend on the decisions of the Joint Congressional Power Commission (JCPC), which Almond was hoping to be made within the year.

"When they say we need to deliver it, there are questions that money alone there are means to be paid," he said.

As of the end of 2013, the obligations of Telecom amounted to €13.8 billion.

© 2004 Blackwell Publishing Ltd, Journal of Internal Medicine 255: 103–110

Endreana, he earlier explained that the Electric Power Industry Reform Act (EPIRA) allowed the economy of the EC since it was a critical component of the country's growth.

Lindeam also stressed that PSALM, the ERC and the Department of Energy were not exempt from their respective obligations to bring down power rates.

PRUDENTIAL has been criticized for passing on to the community the burden of paying Thompson's stretched obligations.

It is important to point out that the recovery of the universal change is mandatory under the EPRs and DSM-30 has accordingly followed the standard guidelines issued by the EPR in determining the amount of the universal change for Standard Units (S.U. 50) and extended contract cases (S.U. 100) (Lachman/ed 1991).

Location of P1-B pre-cast concrete factory

By David C. Shumlin

CONSTRUCTION and engineering firm Magnus-Able Construction Corp. is acquiring a 11.6-acre property in Spring Hill, for its 24-million-sq-ft pre cast concrete manufacturing facility.

In a disclaimer to the Philippine stock exchange, Megawide and its board had approved the acquisition of Aldrin East Ltd through a share swap deal. Plans to turn some of the property where the pet-coat manufacturer plant was now being constructed, Aldrin and Megawide have some common stockholdings.

The board also gave authority to Mississippi disinfectant officers (three) to inspect and negotiate with firms and sign and circulate all documents necessary for the transaction.

Upon the completion of the deal, Megawide will own 100 percent of Africa. It will be able to back Africa Energy projects as part of its own line of investment/financing work.

"The main reason [for purchasing the property] is to save an expense. The plant of Magnasole will run for a least 20 years and it would be expensive to continue renting the property separately with the expected escalation of rates," said Magnasole director and spokesperson Louis Ponce.

The value of the phase margin decreases with delay as will be noted in comparison

Reyes added that the manufacturing phase, once completed, would be the first of its kind in the country and one of the largest per-capita manufac-

The pre-cast plant will allow the Singapore to put up buildings much faster while reducing cost of construction by 50-60 percent. For instance, a five-story condominium that would currently take at least six months to construct in the Philippines could be delivered in 45 to 60 days.

Musicals to enliven Rep's 75th season

By Arnold M. Suarez

Contributor

JUST LIKE the Philippine Educational Theater Association, Repertory Philippines was founded in 1967 and is celebrating its 45th anniversary. This year it will be showcasing its 75th season, as it normally has two seasons annually, summer and winter.

And in 2012, the Rep will mount not just one or two but three big musicals.

This was announced in a celebratory press conference at the city's Lincoln College, a school for drama at McKinley Hill, Fort Bonifacio, on Tuesday. Repertory Philippines, who name an important person after the 12 presidents who approved the constitution of the Philippines in 1899 and then launched the Philippine Artist Guild (PAG).

"We ended the year with a bang with 'Water for Elephants' and we will open 2012 with a bang," declared Repertory artistic director Marlene Landisberger-Yulo.

The first shows are "The Wolf of Solingen," December 1, Monday, Jan. 13, Feb. 3, "Leading Ladies," Feb. 16, March 5, the former musical "Night and Day," March 15, April 10, the musical "The Wizard of Oz," Repertory for the first time, Aug. 10, Dec. 16, and "The Girl on the Train," March 16, April 10, the last in the annual "Big musical" of the Rep.

Each of the five plays has given a production number during the past year, ranging from previous to present.

The second-winning "The Wolf of Solingen," a comedy-drama about the power of love in war, is a straight play about two girls, Luke, "who believes in God," and Adam, "who believes in everything else."

Christmas concert for Year of the Youth

HIGHLIGHTING THE Catholic Bishops Conference of the Philippines' Year of the Youth celebrations, a Lenten concert will be held at the Smart Araneta Coliseum by the Archdiocese of Manila's Commission on the Youth and Campus Ministry Office as well as the local Commission on Evangelization (Coeve).

With the theme, "Kabanas Han, Ang 44 Marikina at Nagay," the musical extravaganza will be held on Dec. 30 from 7 to 10 p.m. It will highlight the God-given talents of the Filipino youth in various fields such as music, sports, politics and philosophy.

perform savings. Among them are the James Chamber Singers, Clara Hume Hall, Mary the Queen Choir, the Choir, Klyburn Boys Choir, Lay Pilgrims Boys Choir and the University of the East Church. Other young celebrities and inspirational speakers will also grace the event.

The huge success came soon after the successful World Youth Day festival in Manila overnight vigil last Aug. 20 and 21, which gathered as many as 12,000 youths from all over the country.

These events are part of the Year of the South celebration, which started on Dec. 15, 2010 and will end on the same date this year. ■

Looking to the youth, the Catholic Church aims to increase awareness of their plight and promote the youth's active role in the church and society.

"The War of the Wench is the Catholic Church's way of showing its undying love for and hope in the Filipino people," explained Fr. Nemesio Alonzo, 34, director of Isang Himnang. "This concert will help inspire and uplift their spirits."

The Christmas concert will be held a week after on January 23.
